International Law and the Rise of Non-State, Armed Groups in Africa and the Middle East

5PM - OCTOBER 27, 2016

GRAY'S INN CHAMBERS
19 - 21 HIGH HOLBORN
LONDON

The Centre for International Land and Maritime Boundaries

During this event, the territorial and security dimensions of non-state actors will be examined from an international law perspective by LCILP and a host of distinguished speakers, including:

Stuart Elden, Professor of Political Theory and Geography at Warwick University. Professor Elden is the author of The Birth of Territory (University of Chicago Press, 2013) and Terror and Territory: The Spatial Extent of Sovereignty (University of Minnesota Press, 2009). He maintains the blog Progressive Geographies.

Emmanuel Dupuy, President of the Institute for Prospective and Security in Europe (IPSE). Dr Dupuy is also a visiting professor as well as a research associate at several institutes and research centers located in Switzerland, Belgium, Italy, USA, Morocco, and China.

Patrick Zahnd, Professor of Humanitarian International Law at SciencesPo: Paris School of International Affairs. With over 30 years of experience working for the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), Dr. Zahnd is an international law practitioner and a humanitarian international law expert.

Due to the fact that places are limited, we ask that you kindly RSVP by writing to ameproject@lclp.org, and include your name, organisational affiliation and current research/professional interests.
